- 25X1 1. It was learned that a large motor vehicle repair shop had been established in the former Bergmann Plant on the road to JANDLITZ (N 52/Z 87), about 2½ miles NW of BERNAU (N 53/Z 96). The installation had a motor vehicle fitting shop, a carpenter shop, a turning shop and a spray-painting shop. The machinery of the turning shop had been installed only four weeks before.
2. The repair shop was operated by a lieutenant colonel, assisted by eight officers. About 20 EM were assigned to guard and driver duty. The shop employed about six hundred German employees and workmen.
3. The shop rebuilt old German motor vehicles which were parked on a large lot in the rear of the shop area. The monthly quota of rebuilt 80 motor vehicles was only 50 to 60 percent filled, primarily due to the lack of spare parts.
